Welcome to the Social Enterprise UK Gift Guide 2023

We have got your shopping covered: from children's toys and socks, to babygrows and sweet treats. These presents with purpose include discarded items given new beautiful forms, and those handmade by people learning new skills to change their lives; with others you are not only buying a gift for your loved one, but also for a person in need.

Every single company featured here we are proud to call a member of Social Enterprise UK, the membership organisation for social enterprise. By purchasing from one of these amazing companies or by visiting eBay for Change you are helping social enterprises change the world and further their mission one lovely gift at a time.

Happy shopping!

In this guide you'll see some items have the eBay for Change logo, this means they are part of the eBay for Change programme, where eBay connects shoppers with small businesses with a social or environmental mission. All of these social enterprises have their own eBay stores where you can learn about their mission and buy from them. When you're searching on eBay look out for the eBay for Change logo onsite and the words "Direct from a social enterprise"

Additionally Social Enterprise UK now has its own eBay for Change store featuring a curated selection of gifts from some of our members. We're planning to include more and more social enterprises in the store over time to showcase the range of fantastic products available from Social Enterprise UK members.
